

Safe & Respectful Learning Environment for African American Males

Presented by: Johnnie Williams III

This breakout session was strategically developed to help foster a breakthrough in the narrative around African American males.

Participants can expect to walk away with an expanded awareness and perspective on the complexities associated with the safety of these male students. This courageous conversation will touch upon:

WHO these males really are...

WHAT is most important to them...

WHERE we send them far to often...

WHEN we'll see a shift in their data...

WHY so many of them keep failing...
